PUTRID POLITICS.

JAMES F. LEGATE TESTIFIES IN THE SENATE INQUIRY.

Pete Kline's Money Used in an Effort to Buy a Majority For the Dunsmore House.

The Populist Leaders Repay the Debt by Looking After Measures of Interest to the Kansas City Gambler.

Kline Promises to Come to Topeka and Tell the Committee What He Knows About the Matter—A Prospect That the Railway Managers Will be Called Upon to Unbosom—Burgard on His Way to Kansas to Correct McAleny's Story.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 21.—The senate investigation committee resumed its work this morning. The first witness was F. C. Lacey, manager of the Postal Telegraph office at Topeka. It was intended to obtain from him information relative to any telegram that might have been received from the Kansas City (Kansas) gamblers and any person charged with accepting or handling bootie. He said that he had not examined the telegrams in his possession. The committee instructed him to report tomorrow, with all telegrams relative to the use of money to influence or effect legislation that passed through his office between Jan. 10 and March 10.

E. W. Mitchell, the Democratic member of the board of police commissioners of Kansas City, Kan., was the next witness. He knew of no efforts being made by the use of money to defeat the Taylor gambling bill, nor did he know of any money being put to corrupt purposes to defeat legislation during the last session of the legislature. He had heard that James F. Legate was handling bootie, but he knew nothing about it except from reports. He knew of no money being used to secure his appointment or confirmation.

E. R. Findlay of Kansas City, Kan., next testified. He is engaged there in the sale of lottery tickets. He has heard of money being raised among the gamblers to defeat the gambling bill. He had heard lately that Mrs. Hickey had contributed money to this fund, but he had not seen her. He said that he had heard that much of the rest of her house that was occupied by the gamblers. The remainder of his testimony brought out nothing new.

The committee then adjourned until 2 o'clock p. m. The committee, at a secret meeting this morning, decided to hold one session at Kansas City, Kan.

AT JEROME'S STORY.

The afternoon session, after a number of witnesses had given unimportant testimony, James F. Legate was sworn. Having examined the letter he gave to Major Hudson and to the committee, in reply to questions by Judge Thatcher, he said that he had received a draft for $3,000 from P. W. Kline before the legislature met and one for $1,500 after it adjourned. He said that he had received a draft for $3,000 from P. W. Kline before the legislature met and one for $1,500 after it adjourned. He said that he had received a draft for $3,000 from P. W. Kline before the legislature met and one for $1,500 after it adjourned.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The advance statement by the treasury bureau of statistics on foreign commerce and immigration for the month of February was issued yesterday. The statement is not as encouraging as it might be. It shows a large decrease in the value of exports during the month and a large increase in the value of imports of merchandise, and consequently a heavy balance of trade against the United States.

The value of the exports of merchandise during February was $9,061,888, and of the imports of merchandise was $29,322,148, or an excess of imports and balance of trade against us of $19,688,262. The value of the exports was $36,064,261 less than it was in February two years ago. On the other hand the imports are larger than for any month of February in previous years. They are more than $20,000,000 greater than in February one year ago or for February in four years. From this statement it appears that the balance of trade against us is from month to month increasing. To the month of February was issued yesterday. The statement is not as encouraging as it might be. It shows a large decrease in the value of exports during the month and a large increase in the value of imports of merchandise, and consequently a heavy balance of trade against the United States.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—A dispatch from Kansas City, Mo., where I tried to make a deal for a Kansas City daily paper. I was told that W. J. Buchanan had received $15,000 or $20,000 for the month of February. I was told that W. J. Buchanan had received $15,000 or $20,000 for the month of February. I was told that W. J. Buchanan had received $15,000 or $20,000 for the month of February.

NEW YORK, March 21.—A dispatch from Topeka, Kan., today states that Superintendent McBride has indicated that the President of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association offered to pay a large sum for campaign purposes last fall if he (McBride) would allow the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association to transact business in Kansas. This dispatch was shown to Mr. Harper at his office in this city this morning. He declined to charge in the following explicit manner:

"I deny that I or any one of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association has offered or attempted to bribe, or to give, or to offer any other person money."

TOPEKA, Kan., March 21.—Governor Leawelling is confined to his room in his hotel with cold and fever. He will not be out for several days.

THE FORT SCOTT SALOONS.

FORT SCOTT, Kan., March 21.—Every saloonkeeper in the city, some thirty in number, was arrested this morning. Among the prisoners are some of the prominent business men of the city. The following are named: J. L. Sheppard of this city a commission as deputy attorney general, with instructions to arrest all violators of the law. The prisoners were today served against the owners of the buildings in which the saloons were conducted, restraining them from continuing business. Each man has been arrested on a great many different counts, and as the local authorities have been allowing them to run wide open for the past two months, no difficulty will be encountered in convicting them. The minimum penalty for each count is $100 fine and thirty days in jail, and the prosecution will be vigorous.

Much surprise and excitement has been caused by this unexpected move by the temperance people, and more sensational developments are expected.

THE UNITED STATES BANK.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 21.—Receiver Sims of the United States Savings bank, which failed in 1891, has announced that he is ready to make a 15 per cent payment to depositors.

THE SEDALIA RAPIST.

SEDALIA, Mo., March 21.—A photograph of the negro arrested last week at Greeley, Colo., has been identified by Mrs. Mary Moore, and an effort will be made to secure the man's return here. Mrs. Taylor, who was assaulted by a negro, has not fully identified him.

OUTLET OPENING.

THE GOVERNMENT WAITING UPON THE CHEROKEE COUNCIL.

The Question of Accepting or Rejecting the Agreement to Be Passed Upon Next Week.

The Democrats of the Senate Resolve to Attempt to Elect New Officers—The Republicans Prepared to Resist.

President Cleveland Informs a Western Congressman That Neutrality Will Not Be Countenanced—The Patronage Rings in the Various State Delegations Broken Up by the Executive's Policy—The Free Gold Surplus Increases.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—When the senate ratified the treaty for the cession to the United States of the Cherokee strip it inserted therein a clause which provides that the compensation for the land is to be made in time payments, in place of the requirement that the government should pay cash, as was originally made with the Indians. This modification of the treaty has not been accepted by the Indians, but will be considered by their legislative body—the Cherokee council—meeting to be held at the capital of the nation next Monday.

The early opening of the strip will be entirely dependent upon the action of the council; for should it reject the modification of the treaty made by the senate, then it will be necessary for the matter to be again brought before congress, which would, of course, indefinitely delay the opening of the lands to settlement. If, on the other hand, the council accept the change, the settlers who are anxious to secure homes in the new country will have an opportunity to gratify their desire.

While the officials of the interior department are making active preparations to open the strip, yet they say that if any unusual delay occur in the opening of the lands to settlement, the matter will not rest with the department.

TAHLEQUAH, I. T., March 21.—Chief Harris of the Cherokee nation yesterday issued a proclamation for a special session of the Cherokee legislature to convene on March 28. It is understood that the chief will submit the bill recently passed by congress asking the Cherokee to wait for $8,000,000 of the sum to be paid for their title to the strip. From reliable authority it is learned that the chief will recommend the acceptance of the offer.

THE SENATE OFFICERS.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Democrats of the senate met at caucus at noon, to consider the subject of a reorganization of the elective service of the senate. At the preceding conference Messrs. Peffer, Kyle and Allen, despite the fact that they have been given committee chairmanships by the majority, were not invited to attend. At the previous caucus the Democrats had been the custom to permit a certain number of members to remain at the disposal of the minority, and this custom would not be departed from by the Democrats.

The caucus adjourned at 4 o'clock, having come to a determination to nominate executive officers. The ticket so nominated is composed of William R. Cox of North Carolina for secretary of the senate, Richard J. Bright of Indiana, ex-senator, and H. H. Milburn, the present chaplain of the house, for chaplain of the senate.

This result was a surprise without a precedent, because for the first time a considerable element that opposed the idea of anything that would be a violation of the principles of the caucus and give cause for opposition on the part of the Republicans.

The matter of the admission of the three western states for appointment by the senate was not taken up.

After the caucus was over one of the leading members of the Democratic steering committee said that it was the intention of the party to make an attempt to elect the nominees. If the Republicans appeared determined in their efforts to prevent a reorganization at this time, the Democrats would not be deterred and let it go over. There appears, though, to be no probability of an abandonment of the idea to make an effort to carry out the will of the caucus.

Another story in connection with the caucus was that the senate would adjourn without day by the postponement of the caucus. This was denied by the senators, who said that the subject had not been mentioned, and that the day of adjournment depended entirely upon the pleasure of the president.

THE OFFICESEKERS.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—President Cleveland today declared himself irreversibly opposed to nepotism. A western congressman called upon him to secure the appointment of a commitment to office. He told Mr. Cleveland that the applicant was a good Democrat and a good fellow, and, furthermore, a relative of the president.

"That settles it," Mr. Cleveland is reported as saying. "His name cannot be even considered." And the president is said to have made an effort to secure the man's return here. Mrs. Taylor, who was assaulted by a negro, has not fully identified him.

The pressure exerted by congressmen at White House for appointments has been largely an individual affair. At first the congressional delegations were, in a measure, united. They would agree to make up a ring, and then the entire delegation would endorse the appointments. The president has effectively disintegrated the delegation, however, by appointing and pushing his individual friends. One result which the president has achieved, and which was the dream, is the breaking up of ring politics in the delegations. Patronage which heretofore has been considered the sacred property of the senators is now declared free for all, and the humble members of the lower house, and even groups of private citizens, may present the names of candidates with some degree of hope of their success.
